18 Framed Triptych of a Maasai Mother

These images are dear to the photographer's heart, as they represent a four-day long visit to a school for developmentally disabled children, called Sibusiso, located in Arusha, Tanzania. Children and their mothers spend three months living at the facility. These images portray a Maasai mother who was living at Sibusiso, whose young son spent many a moment fighting for the spotlight of the camera. His mother, however, shied away. Eventually, she allowed herself to be photographed. These images offer a wonderful glimpse into the heart of this woman. Her timidity is evident in Maasai Mother One, the softness of her heart in Maasai Mother Two, and she exudes confidence as she found her strength and looked into the camera in Maasai Mother Three.
